I did laugh at the family salmon farm...

Good to know. We'll probably try to work on something for later next week as we quickly approach Day 100.

Thanks,
Meg

Meghan:

I'm available just about any time you need, in person or by phone if necessary.

As for this particular IntraFish correspondent, he is blowing his own horn a bit; plus, you have to wonder about a guy who thinks that the Governor of Alaska has a family salmon farm...

Let me know, DL.

Will there be time for all of you to sit down and discuss fish policy? We have numerous requests like this one and we need to start working through them.

Please tell me what's possible and if the request below is as well.

Thanks,
Meg

Hello Meghan,

I spoke with Sharon on the phone on Friday and she suggested I e-mail you this request to interview Gov. Palin by telephone sometime in the next two weeks.

As you know, IntraFish is the leading source of information for the world's seafood industry and there is a lot of interest and curiosity from people in our community about what the governor's vision is for the Alaska seafood sector, what goals she has for the industry and how she plans to make her vision a reality. As we did with Gov. Murkowski (his interview appeared in our February 2005 issue), we propose a straight question-and-answer format where the governor's responses are recorded and transcribed verbatim, with some minimal editing possible to fit the story into whatever it's assigned space will be in the April issue. We have an Alaska Focus section running in the paper that month, and her comments would be the centerpiece of the section.

While I won't provide a list of questions beforehand, I will be happy to provide a guideline of sorts so she could be prepared to speak on the particular topics I would like to address. The interview should last about 20 minutes to a half hour. I would need to have it completed before the end of business on Friday, March 9, as I am off to Boston then for the big seafood show, and will have to prepare the paper for production upon my return.

We also would request some photos of the governor, especially any that show her at her family's salmon farm, or in some seafood-related capacity if possible.

I am in the office each day from 5:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., so feel free to call or e-mail with any questions. I would like to finalize an interview time by the end of this week and conduct the interview next week, the earlier in the week the better.

Thank you for your time and I look forward to working with you on this.

Cheers,

Governor Palin,

AK Workforce Investment Board is a 23-26 member board that currently has 20 members.

Cynthia Erickson has been placed on the AK Workforce Investment Board and Chris Hayes was removed; however, Cynthia does not replace Chris Hayes because Chris Hayes' seat is restricted to a person that has earned a GED or works in adult basic education (ABE). ABE is a federal requirement.

Hi Governor. Just to let you know there is a funeral tomorrow (Wednesday) for an Alaskan soldier, PFC Cleveland. The Lt. Governor will be representing you. I hope you are having great meetings and get to have a little fun, too, in D.C. Kari.

Kari,

The Lt. Governor is scheduled to represent the Governor by presenting a State flag and a letter signed by her to both the father and mother of Pfc. Cleveland. Please let me know if you need more information on this.

Mike, you gave me notice today that there will be a funeral at Anchorage Baptist Temple on Feb 28 at 11:00am. General Kaktus will present the flag to the family. Do you know if anyone will be there to represent the Governor (Lt. Gov; Kris Perry; or Craig Campbell)?
